DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cotrell et al, US 6,566,408.

Cotrell et al teach a surfactant composition comprising a mixture of mono and dialkyl phosphate esters and an amphoteric surfactant, wherein the weight ratio of monophosphate ester to diphosphate ester is 80:20 and the composition has a solids content of from 5 to 40% (col. 9, claim2). Examples of these compositions comprise phosphate mixtures combined with sodium lauryl ether sulfate and betaine surfactants, wherein these compositions have a pH of about 6 (col. 5, lines 40-48). As this reference meets all material limitations of the claims at hand, the reference is anticipatory.

Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Gonzalez et al, US 6,683,033.

Gonzalez et al teach a surfactant composition comprising 3% of a mixture of mono and dialkyl phosphate esters and a betaine surfactant, wherein the weight ratio of monophosphate ester to diphosphate ester is 75:25 and the pH of the composition is 5.2 (col. 8, lines 14-32). As this reference meets all material limitations of the claims at hand, the reference is anticipatory.

Claims 1, 3-6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Matsumoto et al, US 6,683,033.

Matsumoto et al teach a body shampoo comprising 32% of a mixture of mono and dialkyl phosphate esters, 3% lauryl polyglycoside, and 2% betaine, wherein the pH of the composition is 6.7 (col. 9, example 3). Note that the ratio of monophosphate ester to diphosphate ester is as low as 70:30 (col. 10, claim 1). As this reference meets all material limitations of the claims at hand, the reference is anticipatory.

Conclusion

1. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited prior art is cumulative to, or less pertinent than the references relied upon above.
